

A Restless Art

François Matarasso

A Restless Art: How participation won, and why it matters

---

An account of the theory, history and practice of community art in Europe that combines decades of first-hand experience with new research and many project descriptions.

280 pages including 50 colour photographs; Published 2019 £10.

‘Those working in the field will fall on this book with gratitude and delight for the clarity it provides in a nuanced, demanding, rewarding and complex field.’

Lucy Neal, Arts Professional

‘If you are at all interested in this phenomenon—art and social change, social practice, community arts, community cultural development, or any of the other monikers in circulation—you owe it to yourself to read this book.’

Arlene Goldbard, Medium

‘Profound and detailed, beautiful and practical, text book and story: François Matarasso’s A Restless Art could be the only work on participatory art that you will need to own and want to read.

Kathryn Deane, ArtWorks Alliance

Now available from Central Books for £10 (plus postage)
Also free to download from the project website as a PDF